

Florida's Suwannee River Kayaking:

March 5 - 9, 2012

Remember last winter and how cold it was in January? Well here is your chance to have a some more warm weather of Florida. Join us and explore the beautiful Suwannee River in North Central Florida. You will see the wildlife, natural limestone formations, natural springs and much more on this fantastic adventure. Your adventure will begin at Stephen Foster State Park (White Springs, FL) on Monday afternoon, March 5, where we will meet and prepare for our adventure to begin the next morning. On Tuesday we will begin our adventure by paddling the middle portions of the day to our first night at Woods Ferry River Camp. There we will camp at the raised platform river camp. Wednesday, you will enjoy a full day leisurely paddling to the Holton Creek River Camp. Thursday will be our last day on the river, where we will paddle a half day to at the Suwannee River State Park. All your meals will be prepared for you while on this adventures. Imagine dining on stuffed Cornish Game Hens or a hearty bowl of campfire chili, all prepared over the camp fire. But your meal does not stop there, next comes delicious deserts ranging from smores to cobblers. After camping our last night back at Stephen Foster State Park, you will head home on March 9th.
